British Business Awards, Michael Bradley Architecture

I am delighted to offer a letter of support from the Architecture Department of Xi'an Jiaotong-Liverpool University (XJTLU) in Suzhou, for MBA's shortlisting for the British Business Awards.

Michael Bradley has been a great friend of the department for the last year. XJTLU set up a completely new architecture department in the summer of 2011 and Michael has been visiting Suzhou and giving lectures and seminars to the students on the subject of professional practice in China. His contribution to a difficult and demanding subject for the students has been well received and has assisted many of them in gaining a new insight into the professional side of architecture.

MBA was also able to offer two of our first year students a summer internship in 2012. Both students adapted very well to the professional environment and were part of the team for a college design competition in Changzhou and also a bar/restaurant in the centre of Shanghai. The students have expressed their gratitude for getting some excellent practical experience at an early stage in their careers.

I strongly recommend Mike Bradley Architecture for the British Business Awards.

Yours sincerely

Edward Farrell, MSc, RIBA
